Balboa High School . . . a school similar in many ways to a North American high school. A rapidly expanding school that has undergone several changes in its campus and curriculum. It is a school in which there is a strong interest in athletic events and extra curricular activities. A school of many clubs with a student body governed by a Student Association. Yet Balboa High is a unique school.

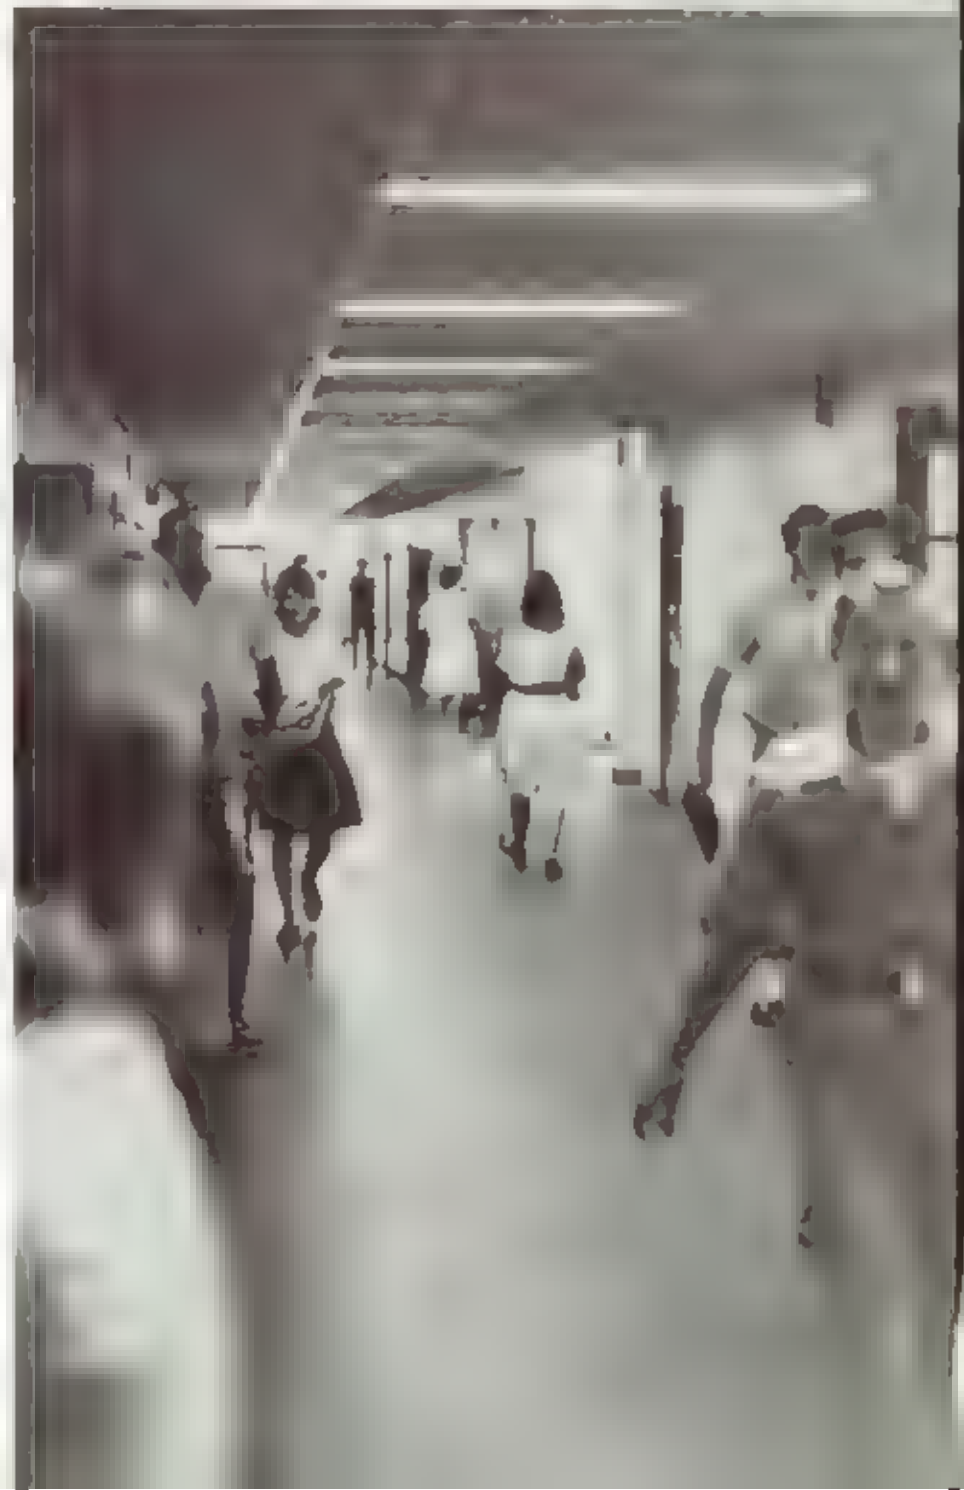

Balboa High is unique because it is located between a Latin American city and a canal that divides the American continent in half. A majority of the students that come to the school have lived in homes where both English and Spanish are spoken—some are fluent in several languages.

Through the doors of Balboa High School come students of varied cultures and customs, and all contribute to the character of the school. It is to this internationally-minded student body, the life of the school, that we dedicate the 1965 ZONIAN.

The main office our first view of the school. A place of constant activity where teachers converge in the morning, at lunchtime, and after school to check the r boxes and talk. It is a center of information for the students, a place where they can locate each other and make telephone calls.

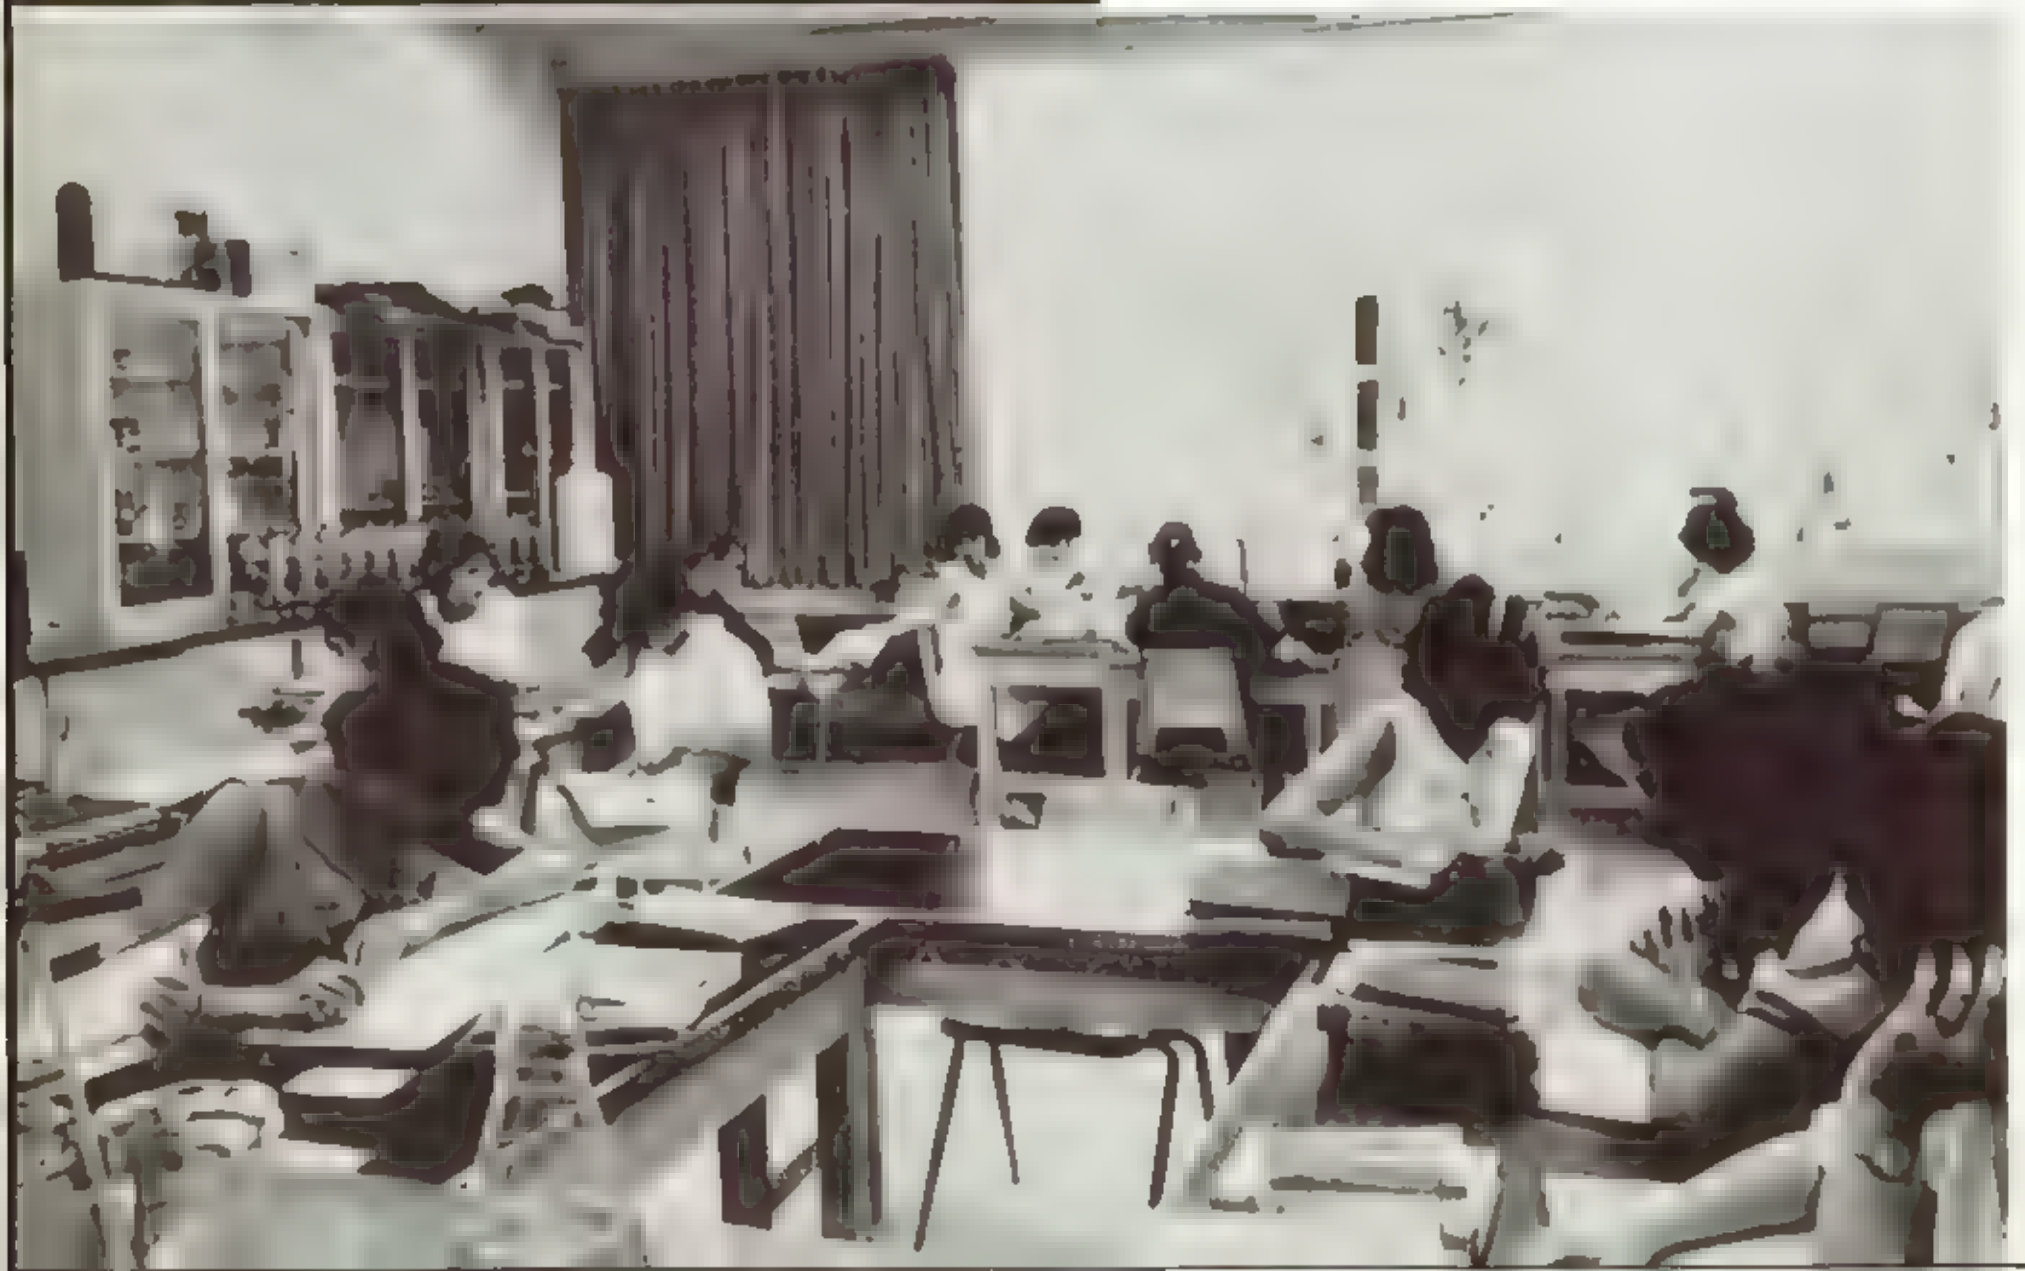

In the hallways we meet students rushing to classes, putting books in lockers, talking, and laughing. We glimpse into classrooms and watch students at work. These are the sights found in a hallway in a typical American high school, but the speech that is heard is quite different. For these halls echo the Southern drawl, the twang of the Middle-west, the strong vowels of the Spanish language.

A typewriter — an empty desk — a journalism room perhaps. A room in which the school newspaper is published where students learn the fine points of newspaper reporting.

We walk on and get a closer view of the academic life at Baboia High. We see the students at work in the classrooms.

They may be studying, taking notes or reading. Some may be participating in a discussion, or listening to a lecture. Others may be preparing displays to increase their knowledge in a selected subject. Usually the displays provide information on subjects that are not taught in the classrooms.

It is lunchtime, the time for club and committee meetings, the time for commenting on the morning classes. Students rush to the clubhouse to buy hot lunches. Some eat at home or in lunchrooms. A few use the benches or the front steps and study while they eat.

The gym classes are another aspect of the life at Balboa High. Swimming, volleyball, basketball, field hockey, archery—these and others are the sports played. There are no seasonal sports, for it is warm the whole year round

The bell rings—one more day of school is over. Students hurry to board buses. Some ride massive olive green army buses, others the small multi-colored 'chivas'. Some drive cars, others have motor scooters.

Many stay behind to participate in extra curricular activities, while a few make use of the Senior Park for a quiet talk after the long day is over.

STUDENT LIFE

"The Play Is the Thing . . ."

"I've forgotten my lines. I've forgotten my cue! Somebody help!" Anyone that has ever participated in a play will never forget the panic of opening night. Everything seems to go wrong, but somehow everything seems to come through beautifully because of the months of day and far into the night practice and preparations.

The stage crew is confident that the sets won't fall down, the makeup people know that the characters look believable, the costumer is sure the costumes fit, the publicity people are sure of a full house, and the light and sound technicians have everything timed to the second.

But of course, the actors themselves are the most important component of a play. They are the first and the main attraction. But they could not do without the stand-ins. Many times these "co-stars" are called on to play some major part (he/she is someone broke a leg) and often are assigned the part only 4 or 5 days before the play's opening night.

Perhaps the most important person next to the stand-in is the prompter. There is always one cowering, and they are the guardian angels of the play. They give the actors the confidence of knowing that if they should forget, the prompter will not, and the play can go on smoothly.

To the director and assistant directors goes the credit or the blame for the success of the performance. These are the key persons in play-making. Upon their shoulders rests a great responsibility. And the Zon-in staff would like to take this opportunity to congratulate our director, Mr. Greene, all of the student directors, the stage crews, and especially the actors, on

There were also the day-to-day activities—the long walk to the Clubhouse, the bus ride home, waiting at the bus stop for the bell to ring. Then we had to fight the crowd in the halls to get to our too-full lockers and still make it to class on time. But with a little skill and practice, we managed.

And then there were Friday and Saturday nights. If we didn't go to a Teen Club or a school dance, it was probably because a good movie was playing. And the evening almost invariably ended with a stop at the Drive-In.

The Cafeteria was a favorite meeting place.

ACADEMIC

MR. FISCHER LEAVES US

Mr. Fischer has been a teacher in BHS for the past 25 years. He first came here in 1940, and now, in 1965 he is saying goodbye to all of us at BHS. During his years of teaching in the Canal Zone, where he has taught Chemistry, Physics, Math and German. Mr. Fischer has seen the development of a new and better BHS. The chemistry and Physics labs are far better equipped today than they were when Mr. Fischer first arrived. He has seen the gradual growth of our Spanish department, from strictly blackboard learning, to tape recorders, and finally to our brand new language lab, which was used for the first time this year.

He has seen our home economics rooms change from crowded counters, to modern kitchens. He has seen Balboa High expand in the field of commercial courses. Today, students are taught to use electric typewriters, to take and transcribe shorthand notes, to operate complicated wood and metal shop machines, and to develop many special artistic talents.

It's true that Mr. Fischer must leave us now, but before he goes he would like to show you a little part of the new BHS. He will begin, of course, with Chemistry, for this is his field, and continue on to Physiology, the newest of the new look in Balboa High.

Mr. Fischer shows that chemistry is a foggy subject

During Mr. Fischer's last year here he saw the creation of a brand new course ANATOMY AND HUMAN PHYSIOLOGY. This course was taught to BHS students by Mr. James N. Cook for the first time this year. It was composed of twenty-five seniors who were selected by Mr. Cook and the counselors. When they entered the class in the fall they were surprised to find that Physiology was not simply a book study of the human body, but included using each other's blood when the study was concentrated on blood and cultivating fruit flies for the study of genetics. And least of all, none had ever thought of dissecting a sheep's heart, a cow's eye or a foetal pig while studying the human body. Even while the course was hard and required many hours of studying, it was profitable and enjoyable to the selected twenty-five.

PHYSIOLOGY

To illustrate a point, Bob Dryja makes use of the excellent charts available to physiology students.

Dennise O'Donnell anticipates a puncture wound from Cindy Carlton.

Teachers like Mr. Hutchinson today can use opaque projectors as classroom helpers.

NEW CLASSROOM HELPERS

Bob Tarr and Les Fischer are taught physics with the aid of a film and projector.

Although Mr. Fischer must leave us now he is proud of the new developments which have come about in BHS during his time. Here he shows that teaching methods improved greatly since the first day. Today students are getting part of their education with the help of mechanical devices, such as the opaque and film projectors shown here.

Our school has come a long way since 1940 and Mr. Fischer has been a part of it all. Balboa High School will continue to progress and in the next fifteen years, its students will look back again.

But those students will never know Mr. Fischer as we have known him and they will never know the meaning of his departure as we will know it.

Bulldogs Prepare for Each Game

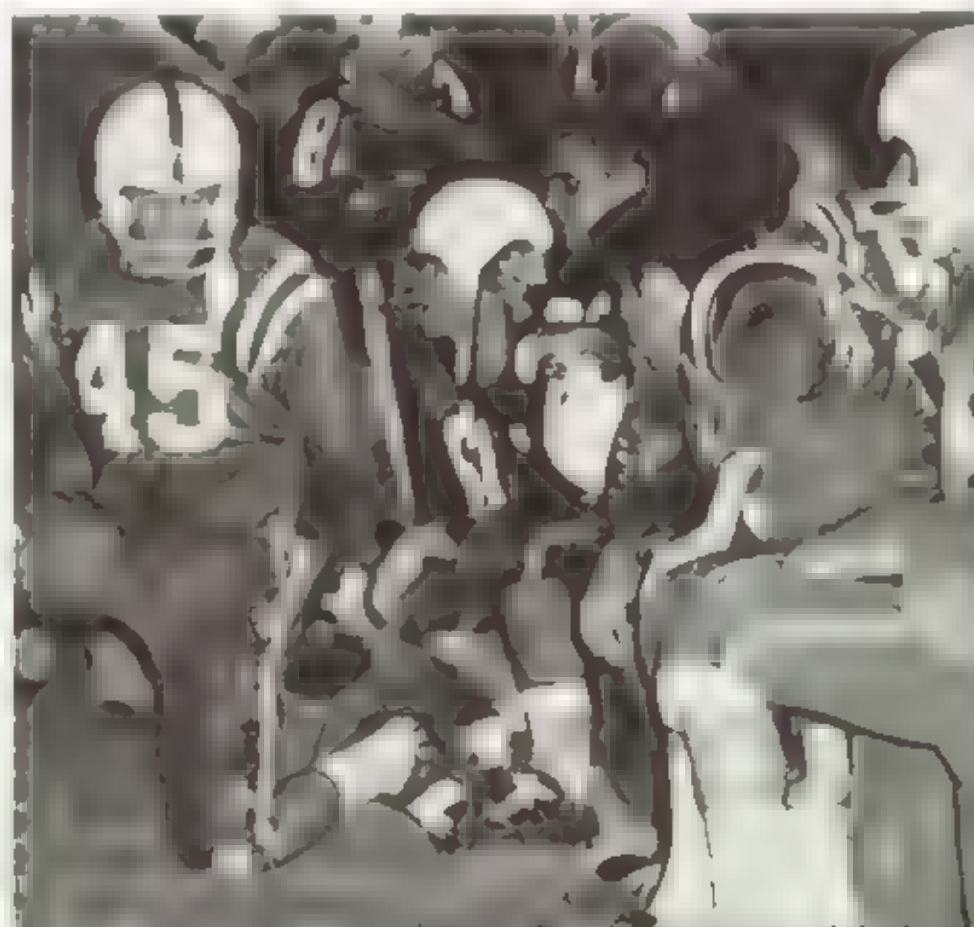

Many people do not realize the preparation and training which precede each football game. After long hours of practice during the week, the night of the game arrives. The players come two hours before the game to receive their uniforms and to have their ankles taped.

After the team completes the warm-up exercises, they return to the dressing room for last minute instructions from the coaching staff. Neither the end of the game nor the end of the season stops this preparation. There is always another game or another season to plan for.

1964 Bulldogs Rebuild

Practice began in late August for the Varsity. One hundred boys answered roll on the first day of practice, but by the end of the week only fifty tired players remained. The following weeks saw the Bulldogs preparing for the opening game. It also saw the first of a number of players lost for the season. Buz Greene and Stew Brown left with injuries, while Ted Smith transferred to Cristoba

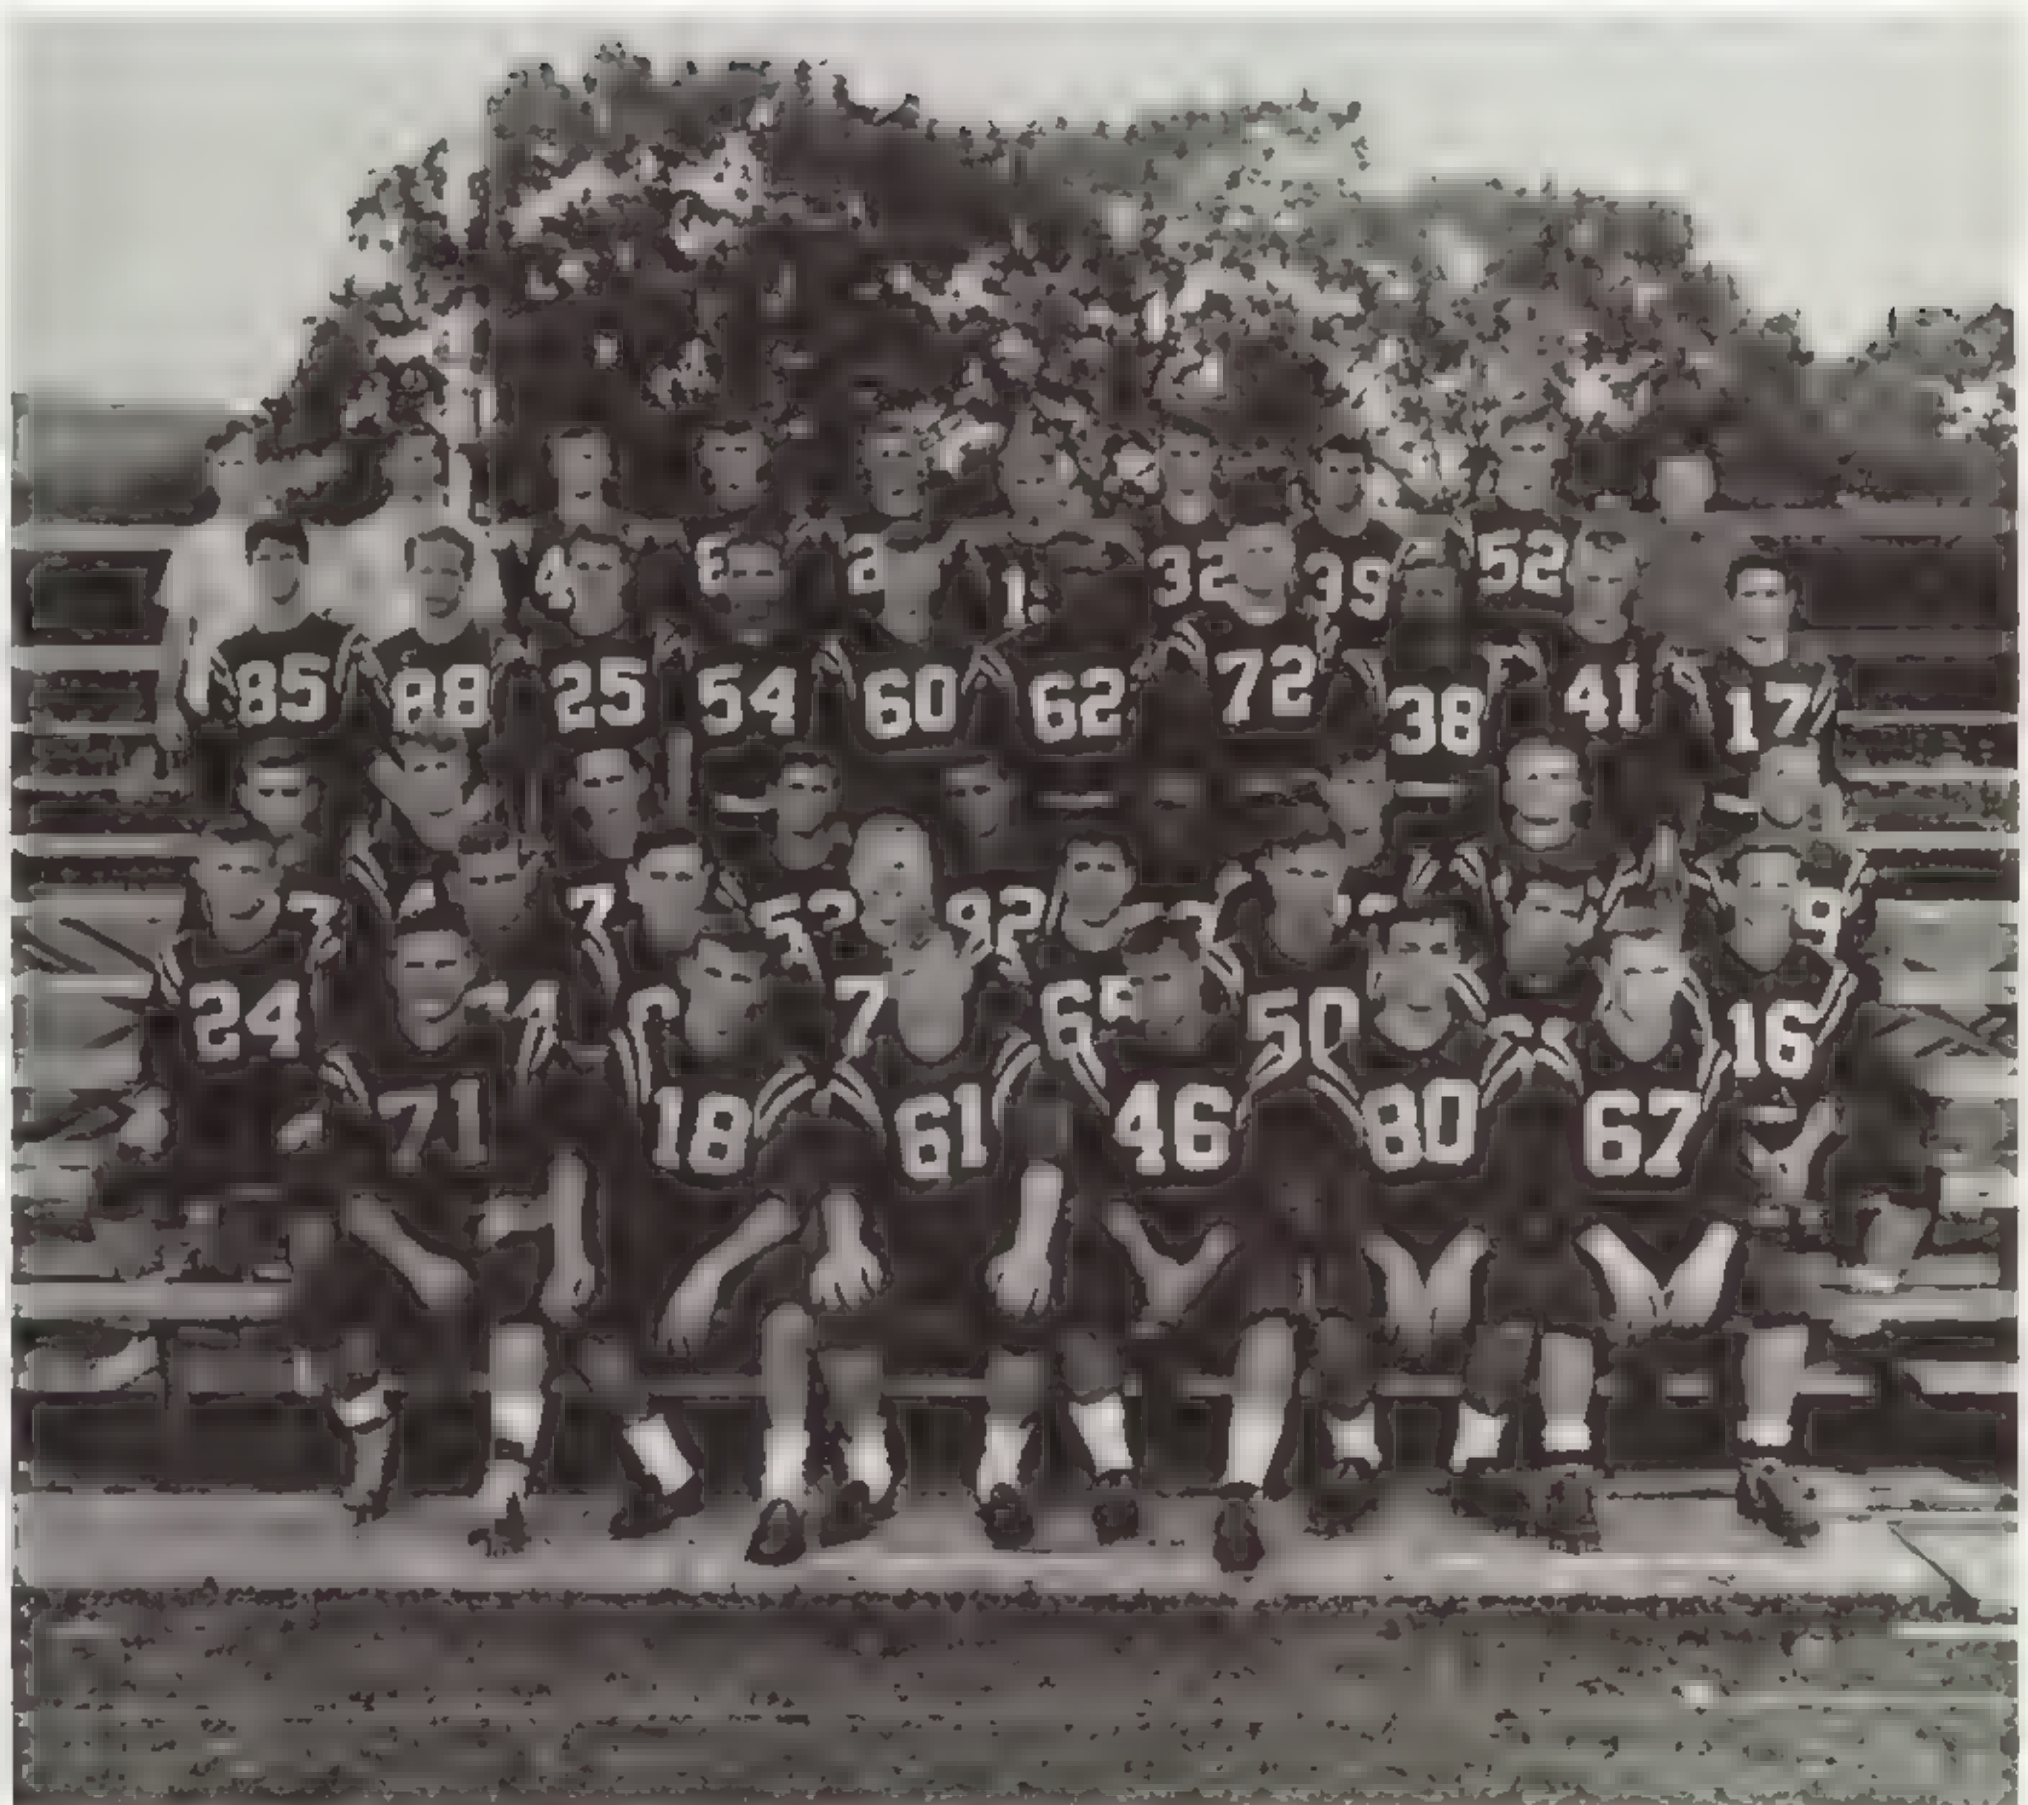

The Bulldogs met the enemy for the first time at the Jamboree and played three scoreless ties. One week later they defeated the Athletic Club 7-6. Then the bubble burst. Balboa found itself on the losing end of the score in the next five games. Six bulldogs: Andy Brown, Tal Hibbert, Terry Dessert, John Rathgeber, Norman Hall, and Mike Plucker joined the All-Stars who defeated Cristobal 14-13 in the annual Palm Bowl Game

Coach Anderson and his staff prepared underclassmen for future work with the varsity by beginning a Junior Varsity football team. Twelve returning let-termen promise a winning season in 1965

The Balboa Bulldogs experienced a fine season in basketball this year, finishing with a 6-3 record in league competition. The team also won many exhibition games before the season opener with Cristobal. After taking a 66-50 decision from the Tigers, the Bulldogs went on to win three games from the S.D.A.C. Cobras, one game from the C.Z.C. Green Devils, and another game from the Tigers. Balboa spoiled a perfect season for the collegians when the team overcame the Devils 60-59 in the season finale.

Coach Brown concentrated on developing the team's stamina and speed. The Bulldogs lacked height necessary for a slow deliberate offense and so they developed a running type of offense. The fast break was used to wear down opponents and to "break open" the games. Balboa used chiefly the man-to-man defense, each player covering a special member of the opponent's team. This combination of offense and defense provided spectators with many thrills and lots of action.

J.V. Basketball

The Junior Varsity Basketball team completed a successful season. The J.V. played both in league and exhibition games. The teams that the J.V. competed against were the Cristobal and Canal Zone College J.V. teams. The official games were all with the Cristobal J.V. in which the Bullpups were able to win two games and lose only one. In the first game the Bullpups defeated the Cristobal Kittens, 33-32. In another close game, 44-42, the J.V. tasted defeat at the hands of the "other-side" team. The final contest proved too much for the "Kittens" who were overwhelmed 42 to 20 by the victorious Bullpups. Near the end of the season Dale Richards and Art Baggott were transferred to the Varsity. Mr. Hatchett drilled the team on the fundamentals of basketball, and worked closely with Coach Brown in practice sessions with the Varsity. The J.V. was prepared for future games with the varsity

Time trials were held in the stadium on Wednesday nights. The Bulldogs with the best times in each event were entered in the actual meets.

Varsity practice began in mid-February. Coach Rayburn drilled the candidates not only in the fundamentals of baseball, but also on physical conditioning. The practices were held after school and often on Saturday mornings. They began with exercises and wind sprints, and ended with batting and fielding practice. Five returning lettermen spark the 1965 Bulldogs, although a host of new candidates have shown potential.

The Balboa High School Tennis team is divided into a boys' team and a girls' team. The reason for this division is that there are no courts big enough to hold a combined boys' and girls' practice.

Both teams begin practice in early February and they continue until April. The girls' team is under the direction of Miss Lehman and practices every afternoon on the Diablo courts. Matches are scheduled against the girls' teams from both Cristobal High School and Canal Zone College. The boys' team has a similar schedule, playing their rivals from C.H.S. and C.Z.C.

As we went to press, the boys' team had just begun practice while the girls' team had beaten the girls from C.Z.C.

Practice Begins

You may be wondering what swimming has to do with this girl doing sit-ups. Sue Dessert is taking part in a planned program of conditioning for varsity swimming.

The program consists of three phases. Phase 1 is a five week program of exercises; Phase 2 is a three week period of water polo and still more exercises. Phase 3 is the actual swimming.

Team members often practice 3 hours daily. Sometimes as early as 6 A. M., you will find varsity swimmers at the Balboa pool.

Bowling

The action was fast and furious at the Balboa Bowling Alley last January. Nearly 30 girls participated in an Intramural bowling program which lasted for three consecutive weeks. Competition was based on total pin fall and not on an individual competitive basis. Bowling is a very popular sport, and the girls who participate in the program at Balboa find it lots of fun

It is very convenient to have the Balboa alleys so near at hand, but larger alleys may be needed in the future for the growing number of intramural bowlers

Girl's Archery

Archery is not a common sport, and it can be dangerous if not properly supervised.

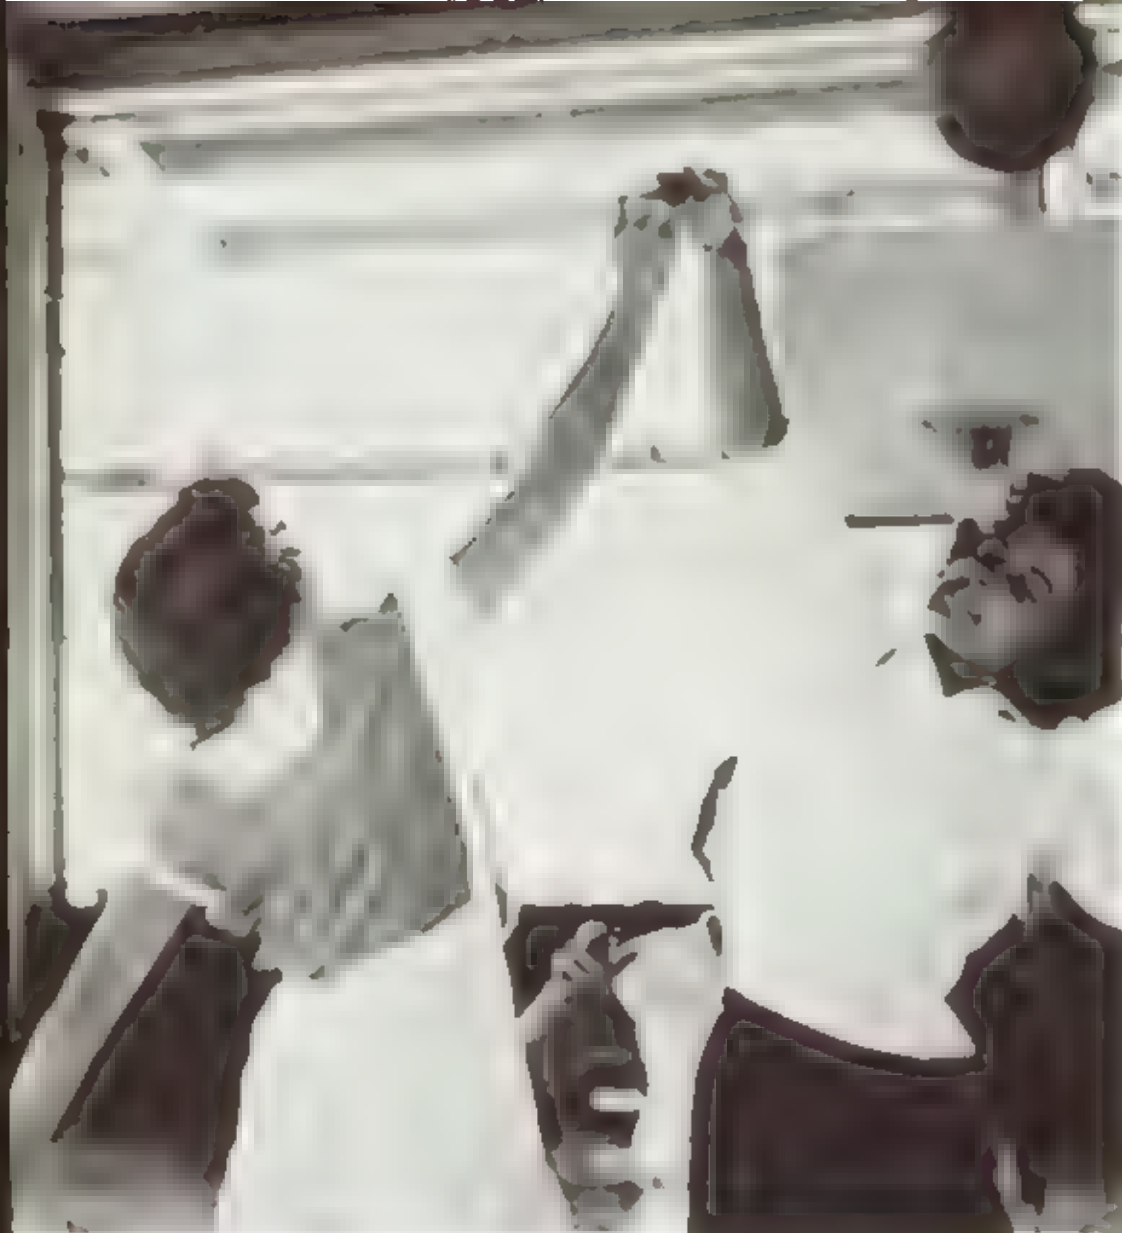

The girls' Intramural program allows girls to participate in this sport and helps them to develop their skill.

The thirty girls who registered for archery this year received both shooting and safety instructions in the use of their fiberglass "longbows."

For a three week period during February, archery was conducted beside the stadium fence. At this same time, boys' track practice was being held in the stadium. Anyone could notice an improvement in their speed when the girls lifted their bows.

Archery is forgotten, and soon the girls move on to the basketball intramurals.

Girl's Basketball

One afternoon last February, you may have walked past the gym on your way home from detention hall. If you had looked inside, you would have noticed that the girls were playing a strange type of basketball. A field goal or "basket" came quite infrequently, and the girls really cheered when a goal was made.

The girls' Intramural basketball program began in early February. Nearly 35 girls registered and were placed on various teams, according to their class.

The winning teams in each class played each other for the school championship. The basketball program stresses the fundamentals of the sport and provides friendly class competition.

Boy's Track

The Intramural Track program for Boys began in late December. On separate days boys met from each of the four classes and competed with each other. The boys who placed first or second in their class met on another afternoon to compete for the school championship. Coach Brown recruited the top three finishers in each event for the track team.

About 20 boys from each class participated in this program. Among the events which were held were the shot-put, discus, high jump, hurdles, dashes, and distance runs. The seniors won the class competition

Swimming

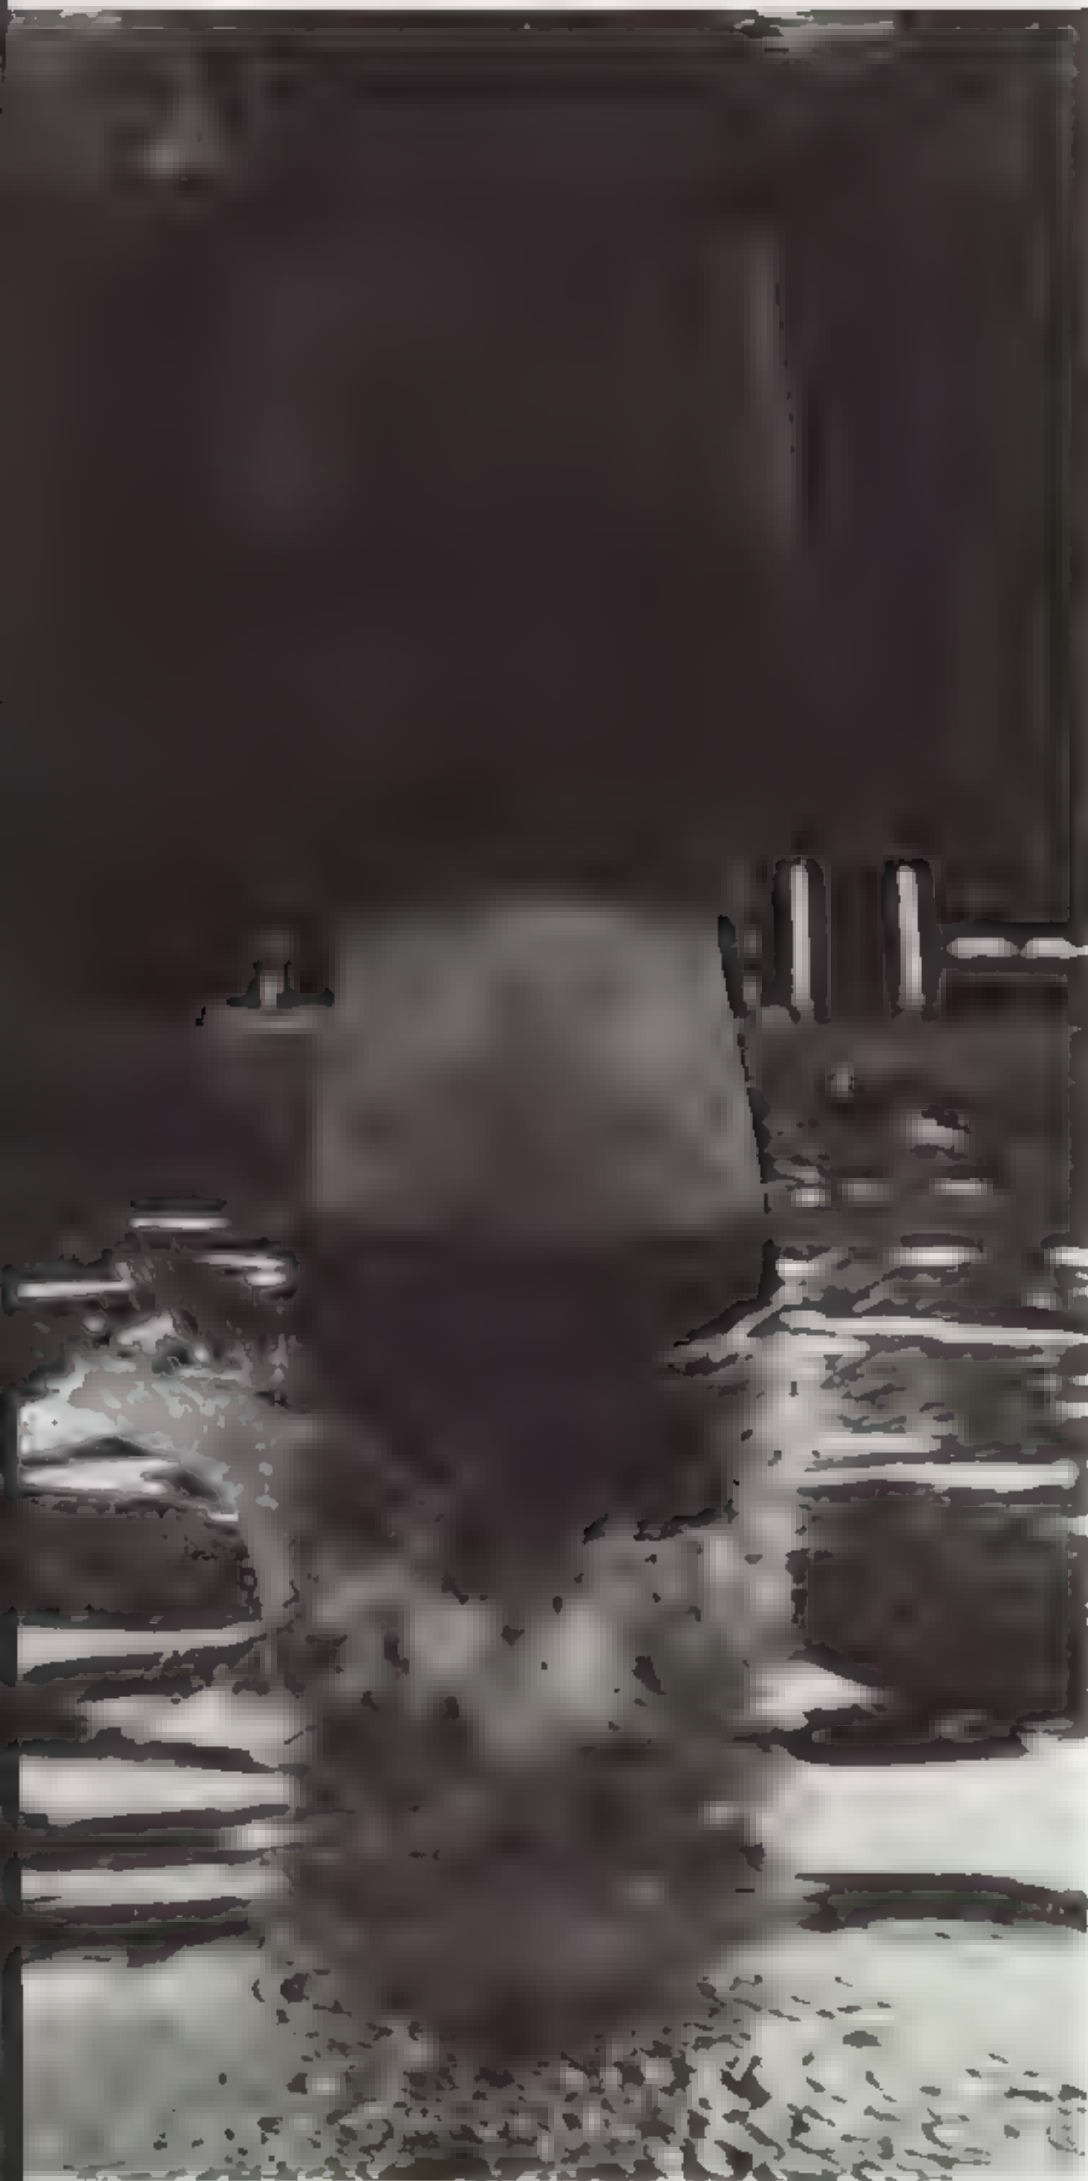

Swimming is not officially organized as an Intramural sport by the Balboa High School Athletic Department. Many students who plan to be on the varsity swimming team keep in shape at the Balboa pool. This is their "Intramural" sport. The students who use the pool have three purposes. First they wish to develop their stamina and endurance, secondly they want to "polish" their diving form and swimming strokes. Lastly they want to have a cool dip before hitting the books

The purpose of the Bridge Club is to give its members knowledge and appreciation of the game. Among the projects they sponsor are a clinic in which students are coached and expert bridge players are on hand to answer questions, and the high point of the year, a tournament, in which the members compete for valuable prizes.

Grease paint, cues, and costumes are only part of the behind-the-scenes activity of a play. There are sets to be constructed, lines to be memorized, and actions to be practiced until they are known perfectly. There is lighting to be worked out, and publicity to be thought of. This all requires many long hours of practice after school and on Saturdays.

A certain amount of points are awarded for every ob. Once enough points have been earned, a Drama Club member may become a member of the National Thespians, a nationwide honor society.

Chalk and erasers are the main, but not the only, tools of the Future Teachers of America. They help teachers at the Balboa Elementary School, and at the same time observe various teaching methods. But they also make tape recordings of books for the use of the blind lepers of Palo Seco. And at Christmas, they give a party for Panamanian children.

Guest speakers are invited to the meetings and often members themselves will give a talk on some phase of teaching.

Future Nurses of America

Working at Gorgas Hospital after school or on weekends, visiting the Leposarium at Palo Saco or the mental institutes at Corozal or in Panama City, gives the Future Nurses of America a chance to see nursing in action. Not only do they have these many field trips, they also sponsor other activities. Every Halloween, they collect candy for the Special Education classes, and at Christmas, they make decorations for the patients at Palo Saco.

Lettermen's Club

The Lettermen's Club is an honorary club run by the lettermen themselves. Boys automatically become lettermen when they have earned a letter in any varsity sports. The requirements for earning a letter vary for each sport. When the first letter is earned, the boy receives a certificate and one letter; this is the only letter he receives in high school. When he fulfills the requirements for a particular sport, he receives an insignia to pin onto the letter. Team captains also receive a star. For second, third, and fourth years of participating in a sport, a bar is given.

The Letterman's Club sponsors the football dance held at the end of football season. The club is also a service club. At the games they are busy selling sodas to everyone. With the proceeds from the sales, they hold their annual banquet at the end of the school year.

French Club

The French Club is designed to give those students studying French an opportunity to become familiar with the history, culture, and language of France outside the classroom. The monthly meetings include many varied activities. Members report on interesting historical events of France, customs in France, or any other facts to broaden the students' knowledge of the French way of life. At other meetings, members present skits, play French games, sing French songs or listen to music, study literature, or watch films concerning France. After each meeting, a typical French dessert is served, such as eclairs or bouche de novel (Yule log).

Mu Alpha Theta and Math Club

The Mu Alpha Theta and Math Club is composed of two integrated parts. The first, the Math Club, uses many projects and reports to help its members in understanding the many different facets of mathematics. These reports may range from Pythagoras to Einstein, from magic squares to polygons.

The second part, Mu Alpha Theta, is a national honor society for young people who are outstanding in the field of mathematics. The requirements for entering this society are that the student must have a B average in Mathematics courses, and have taken at least Algebra I and geometry. The new members to be inducted into the society are usually selected from the members of the Math Club.

Guest speakers are invited to their meetings and they have gone up to the Administration Building for a tour.

Is your pollera ready? Are you going to the Carnival Dance?

What does all this mean??? Simply that it's Carnival time again! And the Pan American Club, which sponsors all Carnival activities around the school, always manages to have more fun lined up for us than the year before.

At their monthly meetings, one Latin American country is discussed. There is usually a movie or slides, a guest speaker, and sometimes several students will demonstrate the native dance of that country. Refreshments are always served.

The Pan American Club also celebrates Pan American Day with a program for the student body in the auditorium.

Photo Club

The Photo Club meets every two weeks in room 406 under the sponsorship of Mr. Robinson. The club teaches amateur photographers the more complex things of photography, such as how to get the correct exposures for films, how films vary from one another and how to compose a good picture. It also provides a photography lab for those students who are interested in making their own photographic prints. During the school year several field trips are made to give the members a chance to make photographs. Guest speakers are also invited to give talks. Towards the end of the year, a school-wide contest is held for students to present their better pictures, and compete for various prizes.

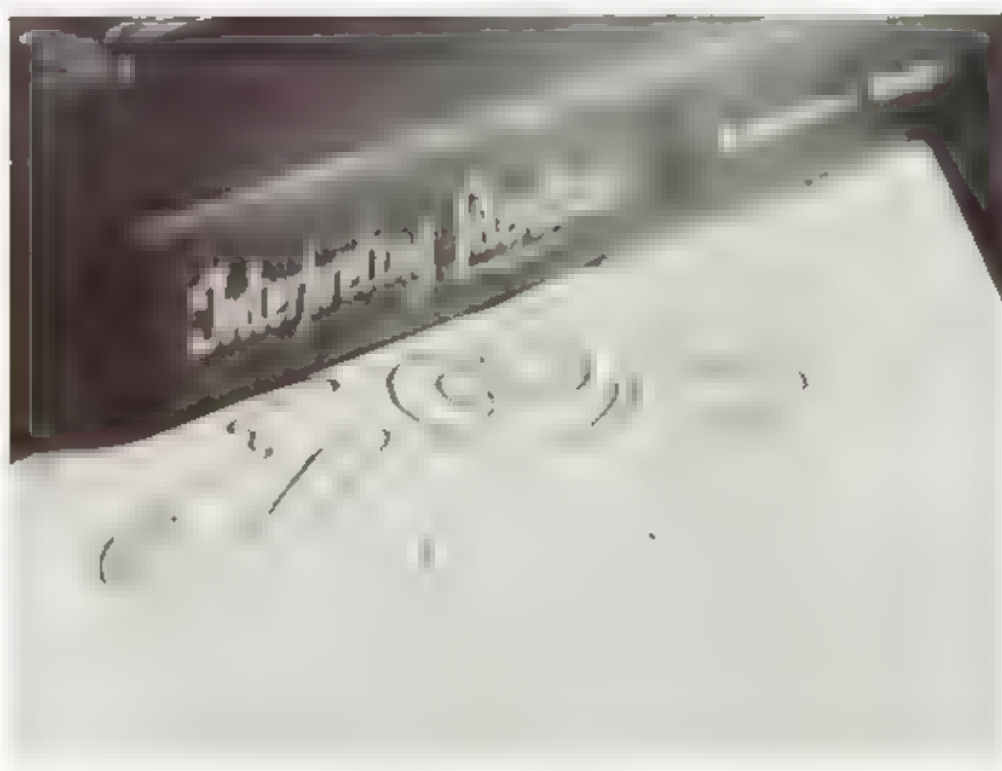

The club in general attempts to give those students who are interested in photography a chance to expand their knowledge, and provides facilities for developing and printing photographs.

Not only do they review various books, they also publish one, the Isthmian Inklings. This is a collection of short stories, essays, and poems written by the students of B.H.S and picked by the Point of View Club as being the best work done during the year.

The Senatus Populusque Romanis, more commonly known to the students of BHS as the Latin Club, was organized for the purpose of studying the culture and customs of Rome and to learn its language. The S P Q R. is a member of the Junior Classical League, a national organization of latin clubs. The Latin Club's big activity of the year is a Roman banquet, usually held during March. The club members and all who attend wear togas, the Roman dress, and Roman foods are served.

Science Club

Mr. Banasick, club sponsor, ponders the problem presented.

There are many purposes of the Balboa High School Science Club. The club members learn about science careers, opportunities in science, and the important role science plays in the world. They learn how to follow their interests in the various fields of science. Members also encourage others to take a true interest in science. The Science Club has often been called the most active club in Balboa High. In past years the club went on several field trips; this year, because the membership of the club shot up, the club has had to restrict its activities to having a program at each regular meeting. Films and demonstrations are also presented to give additional information. The programs are given by the students or by a guest speaker who majored in a particular field.

Members of the club work on many other activities. A few students worked on a science bibliography project in the school library. The Bulletin Board Committee posts items of interest, such as new discoveries and theories in science. The club also has its own newspaper, Chapter 659 Report. The club plans to have more scientific films, conduct research projects, and take more field trips within the Canal Zone.

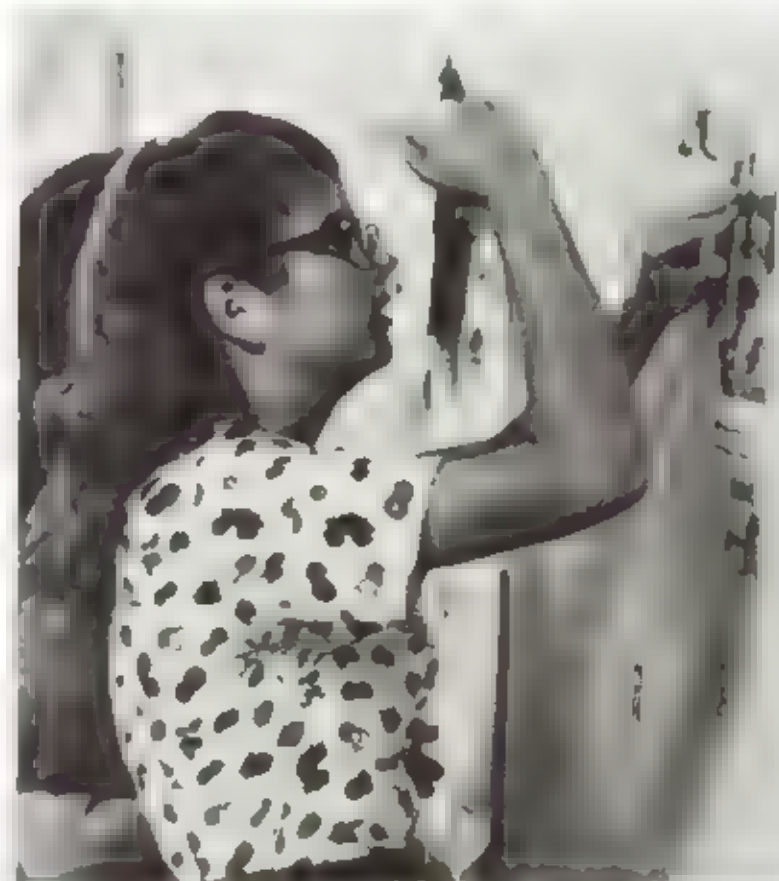

Weldon White and Edmond Jili contact ham radio operators

Members Work Hard

The Science Club has its own radio station, KZ5HS. The three boys on the Radio Committee send messages to the United States and other overseas stations. From many of these stations they also receive messages. The three plan to conduct code classes in order to prepare any members interested in earning an amateur license.

At the beginning of the school year, two members presented a well-covered program about amateur radio and the radio theory. As a result, more of the members have shown interest in ham radio operations.

The National Honor Society is an honorary organization established for the purpose of encouraging good working habits in students. To be a member, a student must be of good moral character, have high grades, be a leader or a good worker in the school, and have served his school, his home, and his friends faithfully. By making a student meet these qualifications the National Honor Society limits its membership and encourages other students to put forth an effort in these fields.

This year for the first time Balboa High School's music department is under the direction of Mr. Ed ward Kaiser. He conducts the Concert Choir, chorus, band, and the orchestra. The chorus is a group of 120 students who like to sing together. The chorus classes meet every day during regularly assigned class periods. Their repertoire includes a wide variety of music selections.

The Concert Choir is composed of sixty selected singers. They must pass a test given by Mr. Kaiser, and are selected on the basis of their abilities in rhythm, diction, phrasing, tonal qualities, and vocal range. The Concert Choir performs at the Spring Concert, the Christmas Concert, and the Music Festival, which is a Zone-wide program including the bands, orchestras, and choruses from other schools on the isthmus.

This organization, formed in 1963 under the sponsorship of Mrs. Young, has promoted much spirit and enthusiasm. The girls gave half-time performances at many of the football and basketball games. Their precision can be attributed to the fact that many long hours after school were spent practicing—they even gave up some of their Saturday mornings!

Drill Team Company

The mission of the Balboa High School Junior Reserve Officer's Training Corps is to lay the foundations of intelligent citizenship and provide military training that will be of value to the cadets if they should enter the Army. Cadets receive three years of training, beginning with their sophomore year. During these three years leadership and discipline, as well as other valuable basic military courses are taught. Supervising the program is the professor of Military Science, who is responsible for training the cadets. He is assisted by three sergeants, who act as advisors to the cadet companies. The army supplies the cadets with qualified instructors, weapons, uniforms, books, and other equipment. Competition is great, not only among the companies and cadets, but with other ROTC schools as well. The blue star that each cadet wears is the Honor Star, designating Balboa High School an Honor Unit. Among the subjects taught are customs of the service, military courtesy, tactics, map reading, military history, and marksmanship. The Usher Guard represents the ROTC at most school functions, while the Rifle Team competes with other ROTC rifle teams. Our Drill Team performs at all the reviews, and at most of the football games.

Parrakeet

Our school newspaper, The Parrakeet, is the spirit of BHS in the written word and printed page. The staff members learn how to write correctly, how to plan a column, write a feature article, cover a story completely, and other tricks that a "news hound" should know. Each member of the staff has a specific job to do and must meet a certain deadline. Working on the paper not only gives the students a chance to see journalism at work first hand, but also gives the pupils a taste of responsibility.

Mr. Fredrick S. Brown, the sponsor of the newspaper, also teaches English. This year's editor is Libby Lane who is aided by the assistant editors, Janet Wright, Jane Wilson, and Ricord Winstead.

"Hi! I'd like to welcome you to our annual Orientation Day!"

And what an Orientation Day! The auditorium was packed with new students: more people attended this year than ever before. And this was only the beginning of the best year the S.A. has had yet.

We packed 1,000 students into the upper gym at the Get Acquainted Dance. Four bands played so we had continuous music and no time for rest.

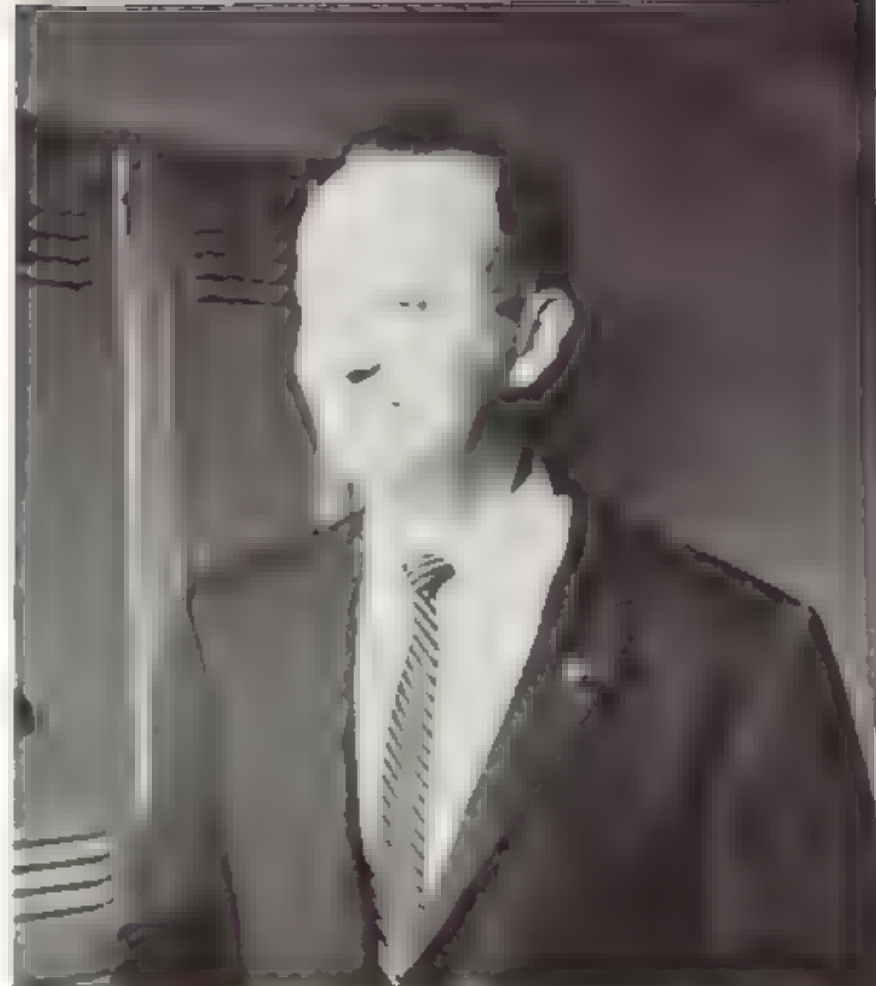

A few days later each class had an S.A. assembly. This spurred so many people into buying S.A. tickets that we had 78 per cent of the student body buy them.

Shortly after the assemblies, we all piled on the train to go to the Jamboree. Who will forget that ride?

Riding hard on the heels of the Jamboree, we had the Inaugural Ball. It was a huge success with a stubborn Bulldog pinata that only Mr. Knick could break.

Soon after this, the Bookstore began receiving sweatshirts, bumper stickers, window stickers, pom-poms, bookcovers, pennants, and other articles, all in red and white. With the help of the Bookstore, our Red and White days were widely observed, and our school spirit rose.

At press time, the S.A. was planning a Tri-school debate and a Bi-school talent show. We also had the Awards Day assembly and Rally Day to look forward to.

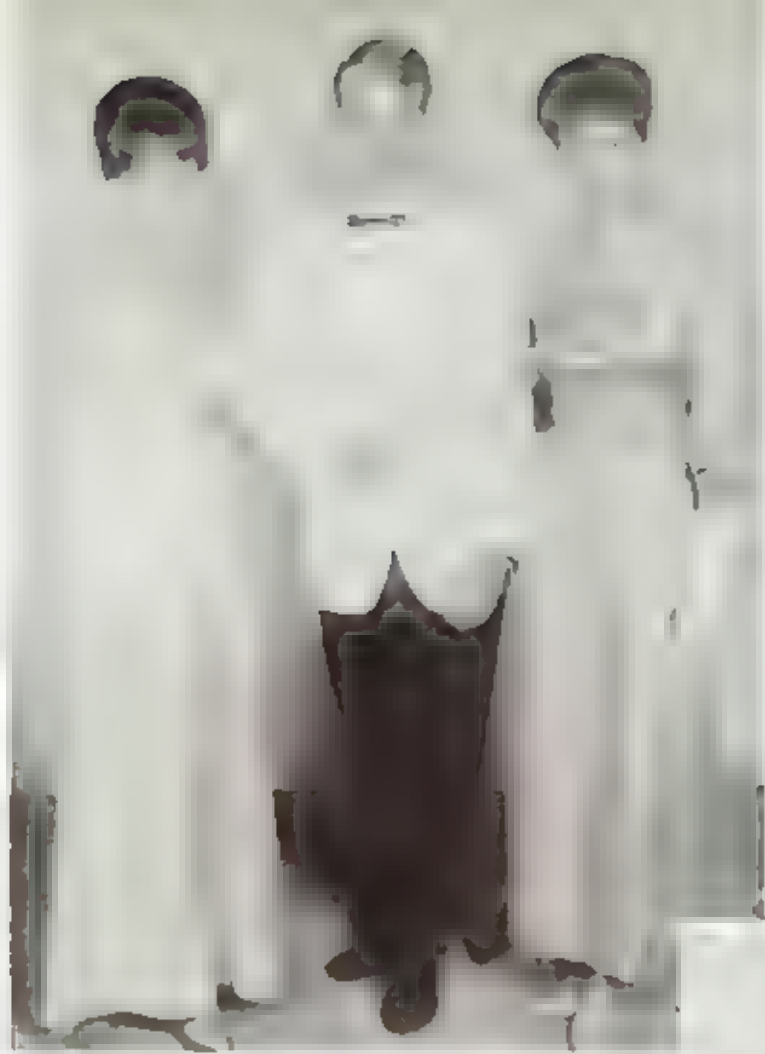

Mr. Gately, Sponsor, can often be seen around the S.A. Office.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

Mr. Willman

Mr. Clyde A. Willman, our new principal, has been in the Canal Zone for only two years. The first year, he was a counsellor at the Diablo Heights Junior High School, and this past year was the new and well-liked principal of Balboa High School.

Before coming to the Canal Zone, Mr. Willman was the principal of a high school approximately the same size as our own BHS.

Mr. Willman received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the Valparaiso University, and his Master of Science from Indiana University. He has also done graduate work at the North Dakota State University. He was the sponsor of ALL of our school activities. He attended the school's activities, and you always saw him there, surrounded by a crowd of interested students.

Our New Principal

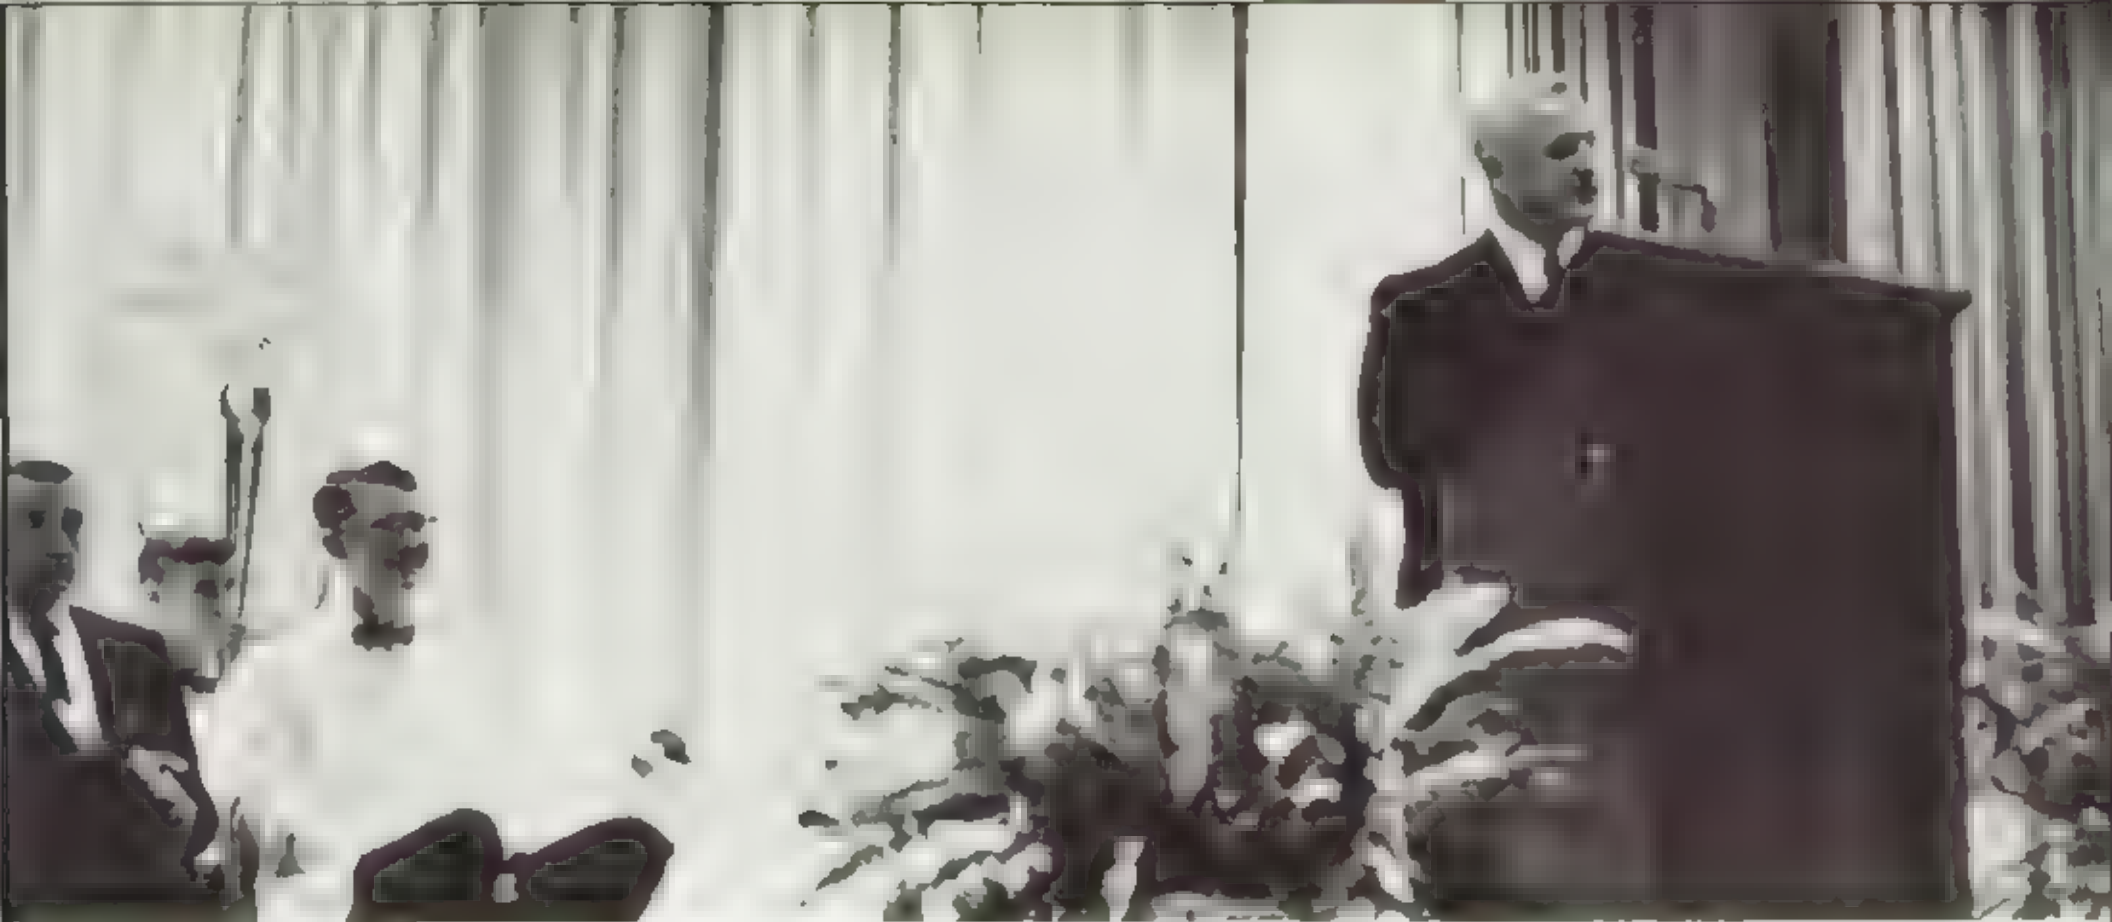

Although he was kept quite busy by the continual round of affairs he still found time to spend with his wife and family and to attend all our school activities. Among his hobbies are: golf, bowling, swimming, hunting, camping, fishing, reading, and watching television. Mr. Willman made himself known from the very beginning as a man who was small in stature and mighty in heart.

Two principals, Mr. Willman and Sue Lessack, exchange notes.

Office Personnel

Paperwork, paperwork, and more paperwork haunted the office secretaries from September 10th when school opened in the fall, until early June when it was closed for the summer months. And even then, there was still work to be done

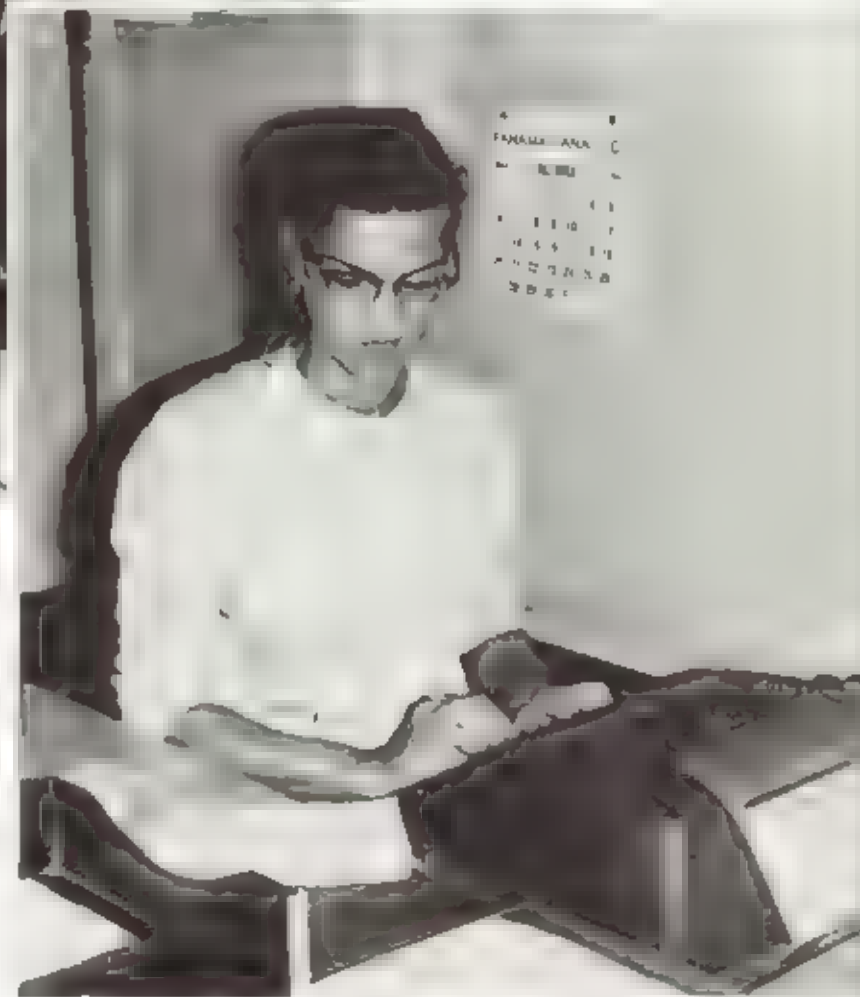

The secretaries were responsible for keeping accurate records of school activities and for seeing that these records were available when they were needed. The doors at BHS were opened from sun to sun, but the secretaries work was never done

Guidance Counsellors

Where do I want to go to college, what do I want to be? These are the difficult questions that our counsellors have tried to help us answer, throughout the past year. Then there are the easier questions but still important such as "Oh, no! how do I find room 401?" All year long our counsellors were busy answering questions and giving advice. We can truly be thankful for their understanding and experience in helping us with our problems. Without them, some of us never would have made it.

MR. DAVID B. BAGLIEN, the freshman and sophomore boys' counsellor, has formerly taught twenty-five different courses in Alkabo, North Dakota, West Point Montana and Shotean, Montana, and at Rocks Springs, Wyoming as a high school counsellor. He has attended North Dakota State University, where he received both his B.S. degree, and his M.S. degree. He also attended the Universities of Wyoming and Montana. His majors were Social Studies and Guidance, and his minors were English and Mathematics. Reading is one of Mr. Baglien's many interests along with his committee work with the Lutheran Church, the American Legion, and the Teacher's Union.

MISS DONNA M. STEUBE, freshman and sophomore girls' counsellor, was born in Danville, Illinois, and she attended the University of Illinois. She also attended the Indiana State College and from it received her B.S. degree and her M.A. degree. While in college she majored in Physical Education and Spanish. Her studies as a graduate student included Guidance. In her spare time Miss Steube likes to do a lot of reading.

MR. GEORGE T. WALTERS, junior and senior boys' counsellor, was born in Raytown, Mississippi. He attended the Creighton University where he received his B.S. degree, and the University of Denver where he received his M.A. degree. As an undergraduate he majored in Commerce and minored in Philosophy; as a graduate he had an Education minor. He is especially interested in photography, and is the sponsor of the External Tests.

MISS MARIE C. WEIR, the junior and senior girls' counsellor, is an only child. She has attended many colleges the world over, some of which are: the University of Florida from which she received her B.S., Columbia University where she received her M.A. degree, the University of San Marcos, Lima, Peru, the Universidad Nacional Mexico, Sophia University, Tokyo, Japan. Her studies in college included Biology, English, Psychology, and Guidance. Her hobbies are reading, traveling and music.

MRS. CHOLLER was born in a town called Gunshot, Texas, but refers to Canyon, Texas as her hometown. She attended Sul Ross State College and received her B. A. from West Texas State College. While in college, Mrs. Choller majored in English and minored in French. She taught in the public school system in Canyon, Texas. After a long hard day at work, our assistant librarian relaxes by reading.

Balboa High School was the first school in the Canal Zone to have its own library. This year, our library had approximately 10,000 books. This number included a large variety of fiction books, science books, plays and an extensive collection of paper-backed books. The latter were donated by the students of Balboa High School themselves. Besides books, our library also kept a supply of 96 different magazines. These magazines were stored in a separate room across the hall from the library, but were available to students upon request.

Helping our Librarians, Miss Rider and Mrs. Choller, during the past year, were 20 library assistants from grades 9 through 12. They worked hard, and were a benefit to all who used the library. Over the years, these people will remain in our thoughts for the service they have rendered us.

BHS Behind the Scene

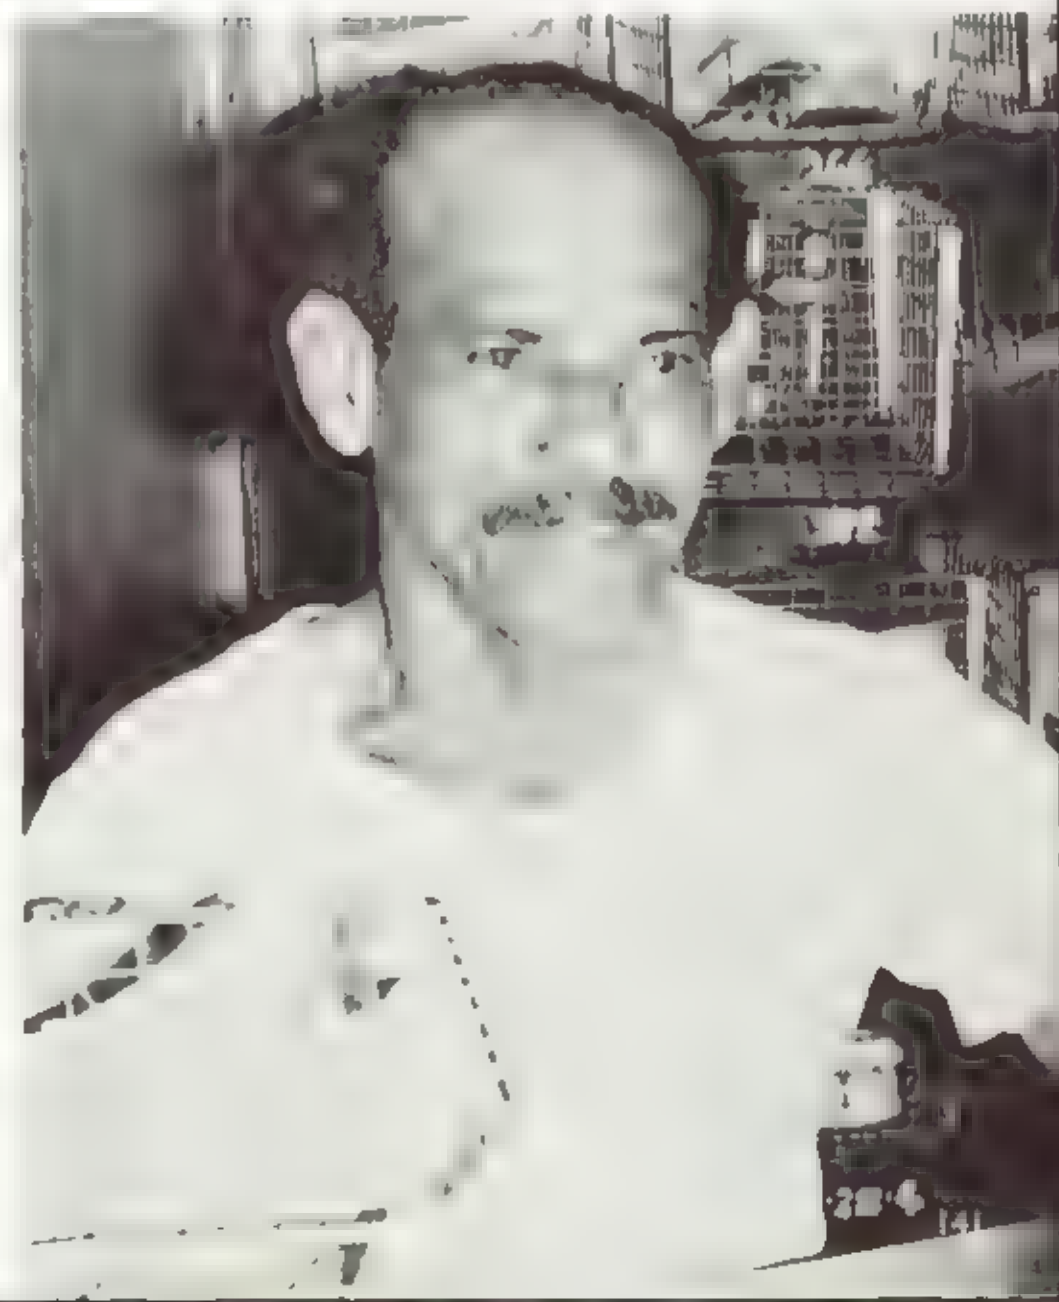

Our school after hours

We can be proud that our High School was always so clean, but the credit for this must rightfully go to those fellows behind the scenes. Every day this year our custodians worked hard to keep BHS looking fresh and clean. We, the students of BHS, say thanks to these people: Achurra, C.; Avaro, R.; Atherly, H.; Banista, L.; Bethancourt, P.; Brown, A.; Cabal, F.; Ceville, L.; Earle, W.; Fernando, S.; Forde, E.; Galastica, M.; Garibaldo, P.; Gomez, S.; Hawkins, S.; Hunt, R.; Lopez, G.; Murray, J.; Perez, E.; Pinagos, F.; Pineda, T.; Ramos, J.; Rodriguez, M.; Sherwood, N.; Stephens, A.; Waller, B.; Welch, A.

You have helped make Balboa High School a school to be proud of, and you have done your job well.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Life as an Underclassman

Life as an underclassman presents many challenges and new experiences. As the days pass, underclassmen become more familiar with the traditions of BHS. They learn that pains are taken not to step on the plaque, especially after it has been shined . . . that the five minutes between classes are never long enough to get from one class to another . . . that "UP" stairs are not to be descended. But the spirit of underclassmen is hard to beat. They are the first to purchase new items from the book store, they show great enthusiasm at BHS sports activities, and they are among the first to volunteer to clean the plaque. Many of the most successful school activities are planned by underclassmen. This year the Juniors planned the Christmas Formal which was held at the Tivoli Hotel; Daisy Mae caught Lil' Abner at the Sadie Hawkins Dance sponsored by the Sophomores; and the Freshmen organized the Freshman Dance. Despite the teasing from seniors, the underclassmen are a vital part of Balboa High School.

Every morning underclassmen gather at the doors of BHS to start another day. This is a time to talk to friends and finish homework. As the day goes on the underclassmen study the quadratic formula, histories of foreign countries, Shakespeare's plays, and the anatomy of frogs along with their other subjects. Between classes they have another chance to see friends as they attempt to get to the next class without being late. When the lunch bell rings, underclassmen scatter in many directions. Most of them race to the Balboa Clubhouse in a mad search for food and a table. Others are satisfied with a packed lunch which they eat at school, and still others go to their homes for lunch. After lunch the underclassmen return to school and begin classes all over again. For those who were slow during the day, detention hall begins at 2:55. But for the rest, the school day is over and extra-curricular activities can begin. The underclassmen work hard, but at the same time

Life is not all study and work—underclassmen attend the hootenanny

'Jamboree or bust!' cried the underclassmen

Life is not all work and study for the underclassmen. They participate in many clubs and extra-curricular activities sponsored by the school. While the seniors are the officers and leaders of organizations, the underclassmen are the followers who provide the manpower and support. The ROTC, for example, is headed by seniors; but the juniors and sophomores fill the ranks and follow the leadership of the seniors. Even though most of the football heroes may be seniors, the underclassmen that stay on the bench are also important. They will be the players that replace the seniors in years to come. The days pass quickly and the underclassman progresses from a frightened freshman to an unsure sophomore, to a confident junior, and finally to a mighty, mighty senior. The homework, hard exams, and long reports combine with the dances, football games, and Jamborees to become a part of the life of an underclassman. A life that is hectic, but at the same time—unforgettable

Vickie Churchville adds finishing touches to the Freshman Bulletin Board

FRESHMEN FIRST! Since this was the last freshman class at Balboa High School, the class of '68 set out to make that cheer true. They started by leading the other three classes in S. A. ticket sales. Lusty cheers from freshmen were heard at all the games and pep rallies. Under the leadership of John Moses, president; Vickie Churchville, vice-president; and Janet Jones, secretary; many activities were held during the year. A class bulletin board was used to post announcements and to keep the "under-unders" informed of coming activities. For the second year a freshman basketball team was organized. The boys played against the B.H.S. Junior Varsity Team and a team from Diablo Junior High School. Under the guidance of Mr. George Case and Mr. Gifford Wilde, the class of '68 held a very successful Freshman Dance. The last activity of the year was Awards Day. On that day, outstanding freshmen were honored for their contribution to the school. As their first year in B.H.S. drew to an end, the freshmen thought of the first frightening days in high school. Now they can look forward to an even better year as sophomores.

SOPHOMORES

September 10, 1964, and the Sophomores arrived at B.H.S.—willing, eager and more than a little scared. No longer Freshmen, they were now UPPER lower classmen. Their class officers were elected: Jim Dilfer, president; Roy Wilson, vice-president; Lois Meyer, secretary. Aided by the sponsors, Mrs. Graham and Mr. Fraley, they made plans for a terrific Sophomore year.

The Sophomores started off with a bang. At the first debate of the year their two debaters, Bonny Lavendar and Sue Nusbaum, defeated the Juniors and won the title of undefeated debate champions. At the next debate, Daisy Craddock and Juanita Milas defended their title, and their victory made the other classes begin to think that the class of '67 was no slacker!

Victory, victory, was their cry! And that cry was heard all around the school. The Halloween showcase under the direction of Carrie Lee Orr, the Christmas showcase, for which Elena Chodakowski and her committee were responsible, and the other showcases all came out of the competitions with flying colors. The Sophomores shone again!

There was also time for play. The Sophomore carolling trip was loads of fun (and awfully noisy), the class picnic in February was a huge success, and the Sadie Hawkins Dance couldn't have been better. Everyone agreed that if Abner, John Spinelli, had to get caught, Daisy Mae, Rhonda Kristoff, was a nice way to go.

Now it is all behind them: the work, the excitement, the laughter. It has been a busy year, and not without its problems. But one thing is sure—they will never be able to forget their Sophomore year at Balboa High!

John Spruiell, Kathy Warren, and Kelly Roberts read the latest notices on the Sophomore Bulletin Board.

Juniors—at last! They started the year with a picnic at Summit Gardens planned by Jim Nichols, President; Bentley Jenkins, Vice-President; and Jerri Hunt, Secretary; with their sponsors Mr. and Mrs. Willingham. Everyone had fun and looked forward to a busy and exciting year. Sheryl Williams, Migue Osborne, Bentley Jenkins, Duke Wilson, Gary Vaucher, Ed House, Jim Brady, Tom Sizemore formed the class debate team with the able guidance of Miss Maureen Keen. Their hard work made them tough competition for the other classes at several debates held during the year.

For the first time in many years, the juniors chose a round setting for their class ring. The rings arrived early in December and were proudly worn to the Christmas Formal. Nylon net Christmas trees, clorox-bottle Santas, and candy canes adorned the ballroom of the Tivoli Hotel. Queen Jerri Hunt, King Andy Brown, and the members of the court looked regal in a setting of an old-fashioned living room.

During Easter vacation juniors were able to attend Boys State and Girls State. The purpose of the session is to teach high-school juniors how State governments are run and to give them an opportunity to practice what they learn. During the week they listen to guest speakers, take part in a mock trial, and participate in the election of State officials.

Because the Junior and Senior classes were so large, the annual Junior-Senior Prom had to be divided into individual class activities. The juniors held their prom at Albrook Officers Club on May 15 with Mario Fabrega providing the music.

As the year drew to an end, the Class of '66 selected their courses for the coming year, signed up for May College Boards, and studied hard for final exams. The junior year was over, and they looked ahead to their final year at BHS.

What Makes a Mighty Mighty Senior

The Mighty Mighty Seniors were not always Mighty. They, too, started as lowly, curious freshmen. However, they proved that they were potential Mighty Mighty Seniors by wisely (one of the characteristics of a Mighty Mighty Senior) electing Bob Russell, Bonnie Earp, and Kathy Devine as their President, Vice-President, and Secretary respectively. Two more years and they would become Mighty Mighty Seniors.

MMS also stands for Mighty Mighty Smart—four MMSS's: Ned Kennington, Linda Naar, Roger Hoenke and Kath Chandler.

Jeff Sears, Cathy Cashman, Kim Brabson, Connie Hawthorne and Chip Gwatney are MMS Plaque Guardians.

They continued to show their potential as Mighty Mighty Seniors when they returned to BHS as Sophomores. For their class officers they chose George Linfors for President, Buddy Cunningham for Vice-President, and Sue Lessiack for Secretary. They were beginning to take part in more school activities such as the frolic, their Sadie Hawkins Dance, and the S. A. Elections. That year several sophomores were candidates for S. A. Vice-President. After much campaigning, Sue Lessiack was elected. One year to go until they would become Mighty Mighty Seniors.

Mighty Mighty Cawl

MM Jokers such as Norman Hall, Sharon Ten Broeck, Nancy Chadwick, and Arthur Payne, make sure our days are never dull.

As Juniors they began to show their individuality (another characteristic of a Mighty Mighty Senior) when they chose a class ring with a blue stone. The officers, elected at the end of their sophomore year, were George Lintors, President; Stew Brown, Vice-president and Vick McCoy, Secretary. That year was very busy, socially, with the class picnic at Summit Gardens, the Christmas Formal, the Jr.-Sr. Banquet, and the Jr.-Sr. Prom. However, they were not too busy to keep their grades up, and 22 of them were initiated into the National Honor Society in the spring. Sue Lessiack was elected President of the S. A. after a long, hard campaign. After that, more campaigns and Danny Aleman, Paul Meyer, and Vicki McCoy were elected as the Mighty Mighty Senior Class Officers: President, Vice President, and Secretary, respectively. Now they were ready to be Mighty Mighty Seniors.

Pete Young and Idette Johnson are two of the MMS Dancers who appeared on Dance Party on MMS Day.

MMS's Paul Meyer, Ann Wright, Vaughan Taylor, and Lorraine Johnson are bound to go MM Far in life.

MMS's Stew Brown, Vicki McCoy, Gail Boliannon, and Danny Aleman are MM Cheerful even before school starts.

At last! They were top men on the totem pole! They were Mighty Mighty Seniors and their Mighty Mighty Officers Danny Aleman, President; Paul Meyer, Vice-President; and Vicki McCoy, Secretary; were really on the ball. That year the Mighty Mighty Seniors instituted some brand new activities; The Senior Reception, Senior Meetings, the Senior Masquerade Party, and the Senior Bike Hike. All these new activities combined with the regular Senior class activities, such as the Spring Formal, and the class picnic, made it possible for the Mighty Mighty Seniors of the Class of '65 to have the best Senior Year ever! A year that will be remembered always by the Mighty Mighty Seniors!

MMS's Jane Wilson, Bob Prince, and Sue Lessack are MM Spiritual (MM Full of School Spirit!)

MMS's Randy Everson, Doores Barnes, Terry Barber, and Libby Lane are typical MM Well Dressed Seniors

MM Courteous are Cheryl Peterson, Betty Brannan, Danny Hele, and Brian Keeney

MMS's are also MM Talented

Honor Graduates

To be an Honor Graduate, a student must have attained a 3.0 or better quality point average at the end of the first semester of the senior year of high school. At the time of graduation, those seniors qualifying are distinguished by white tassels which are worn on their caps.

Invertiremos en la expansión de las facilidades de nuestros servicios de electricidad, gas y teléfono en las ciudades de Panamá y Colón.

Estamos llevando a cabo el primer paso del proyecto con la instalación de un generador de 12.250 kw/h en San Francisco de la Calota.

El proyecto, que durará tres años para completarlo, incluye además las expansiones de facilidades en la ciudad de Panamá, un aumento en la capacidad de la Planta Eléctrica de Colón y la construcción de dos subestaciones para efectuar una interconexión de las capacidades de ambas ciudades en un solo sistema.

Es así como la Compañía Panameña de Fuerza y Luz estuvo, está y estará siempre lista para rendir un eficiente servicio eléctrico para usted.

Kodak Opens a New Era in Picture Taking Ease!
KODAK INSTAMATIC CAMERA

With the new KODAPAK film cartridge . . .
you load instantly automatically so it's easier than ever to take good pictures.

The new KODAK INSTAMATIC Camera is the quick, easy way to better pictures. You never touch the film. There's no threading, no rewinding. You just drop in the film cartridge. Even in bright sunlight. It's instant. It's automatic. And there's nothing to think about but the picture.
There is a KODAK INSTAMATIC Camera to meet your needs.

See your Kodak dealer today!
